THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive GAZETTEER Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in LIVERPOOL and GLASGOW—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Irish Tobacco Trade Journal.

Without exception the above is the most useful Directory of Ireland published. It contains exhaustive classified lists of the manufacturers, traders, merchants, agents, and dealers in upwards of five hundred Irish cities, towns, and villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer section. To merchants in the principal cities of Ireland this Directory should prove invaluable. They are often at a loss for a complete list of the traders in the different towns and villages for the purpose of circularising, etc., but the book under review supplies all these, arranged under the different trade headings. The Directory should be on the table of every up-to-date man who seeks to do any kind of business with traders in the different Irish districts as well as with Liverpool and Glasgow,—January 1906.

Carrickfergus Advertiser.

The present is the nineteenth edition of this well-known Directory, and great care has been exercised in revising the various sections and in bringing all information up to date. The Gazetteer section has been fully revised, and now gives the populations according to the 1901 census. A new Railway Map of Ireland is given, also town plans of Dublin, Belfast, and Cork. The volume is worthy of the great firm by which it is published.—26th January 1906

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Northern Whig

The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Londonderry Sentinel.

Messrs Macdonald have long published a Scottish Directory and Gazetteer, and the present is the nineteenth annual edition of their Irish work of a similar kind. The volume has evidently been compiled with care. The Gazetteer is likely to be even more useful than the directory portion, seeing that it gives the population and other statistics of almost every village in the country. The Railway Map of Ireland is well executed.—20th January 1906.

Limerick Chronicle.

It is sometimes complained that there is not published a comprehensive directory of Limerick. That complaint may now be hushed, for we have before us a copy of "Macdonald's Irish Directory and Gazetteer," which entirely fills the bill as far as Limerick City is concerned; and if the other cities (with which we are not familiar) are as well done as Limerick, Clare, Sligo, and Tipperary (with which we are), the book should be the business man's "vade mecum." . . . In a word, it is a Directory that is a Directory, and hotels and places of public resort ought to have it, while all business men will find it very useful not only as an Irish Directory, but a Directory of

Liverpool and Glasgow, a home, colonial, and foreign mercantile guide, and a comprehensive gazetteer. — 23rd December 1905

The Newry Reporter.

We have a word of special praise for "Macdonald's Irish Directory and Gazetteer," the nineteenth annual edition of which has just been published. Always a most reliable and carefully arranged compendium of its class, this edition for 1906 has now superadded a number of new sections of an important description. In the Gazetteer section the populations, according to the 1901 census, are given. The officially revised Bank Section gives the names of all the banks and bankers in Ireland, with a list of their branches, sub-offices, and agents. Taken altogether, Messrs Macdonald's Irish Directory and Gazetteer is a work of genuine usefulness, and we can heartily recommend it to all who require an aid of the kind.—23rd December 1905

The Armagh Guardian.

There are many directories on the market at present, but most of them are only so in name. That is, one can only find therein the names of those people who pay for the privilege of having those names in print, and in consequence not only many traders in each town are omitted, but entire towns do not appear at all. This is notably the case with big London "directories." "Macdonald's Irish Directory" is not one of these skeleton books. It gives the names of all business men in large towns classified according to the business, and those in small towns in alphabetical order, and is therefore a real directory. We have gone to the trouble of checking several towns, and have found it very correct indeed. A Gazetteer is also given, which, with the accompanying maps, will be found very useful.—29th December 1905.

❧ No Money will be received for the Directory until delivered. ❧

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with English Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Six Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities, in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £1, 10s.—a price much less than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades' Directory of LONDON, and about Three Hundred and Twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, as well as a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

BIRMINGHAM	CARDIFF	LEEDS	NEWCASTLE	PORTSMOUTH	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	LEICESTER	Northampton	Preston	Stockport
Bolton	Devonport	LIVERPOOL and	NORWICH	Reading	Sunderland
BRADFORD	Gateshead	Birkenhead	NOTTINGHAM	Rochdale	Swansea
BRIGHTON	Halifax	MANCHESTER and	Oldham	St Helens	Walsall
BRISTOL	Huddersfield	Salford	PLYMOUTH and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	HULL	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	SHEFFIELD	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades' Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in the Style of Firms, or change of Address, should be communicated to the Publishers.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with English Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Six Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities, in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £1, 10s.—a price much less than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades' Directory of LONDON, and about Three Hundred and Twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

BIRMINGHAM	CARDIFF	LEEDS	NEWCASTLE	PORTSMOUTH	South Shields

Bolton	Devonport	LIVERPOOL and	NORWICH	Reading	Sunderland
BRADFORD	Gateshead	Birkenhead	NOTTINGHAM	Rochdale	Swansea

BRISTOL	Huddersfield	Salford	PLYMOUTH and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	HULL	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	SHEFFIELD	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades' Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Daily Telegraph (London)

Will be found invaluable for commercial reference. . . . and, judging by the way it continues to grow, a third tome will soon be necessary. It is claimed by the publishers that in the "English Directory" have been collected the names and addresses of more manufacturers, brokers, shippers, agents, and dealers than are to be found in any other work of the same character. As a means of bringing the producer into closer contact with the distributor and consumer, these volumes obviously possess great value.

Daily Chronicle (London)

"A NATION OF SHOPKEEPERS."—In these two great volumes a vigorous and painstaking attempt is made to place manufacturers and merchants in touch with likely customers in England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, without the need of reference to numerous local directories. We are not surprised to learn that the compilation in its present form represents the labour of several years. There is an ample index, with most useful street plans of London, Liverpool, Manchester, &c

Daily News (London)

A GIGANTIC DIRECTORY. — This enormous bulk will not appear surprising when we add that its aim is to furnish a Trades' Directory for the whole of England, the information being arranged under the headings of cities and towns, subdivided, however, in each instance under trades and professions. The compilation is one that must have involved a very large amount of labour and expense, and the practical utility of the volumes to the trading classes is sufficiently obvious.

Liverpool Mercury

A GREAT TRADES' DIRECTORY.—One of the most valuable works of reference to commercial houses is an accurate and comprehensive trades' directory. Such is provided by Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., who have just issued a new and considerably enlarged edition of their "English Directory and Gazetteer." The whole work embraces authentic lists of the professions, trades, and businesses of some 6000 cities, towns, and villages in England, Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Thus it will be seen that the scope of the work is as wide as it well could be. As regards its accuracy, it need only be said that agents are sent annually to all the places of importance to verify the statements given.

Manchester Guardian

Amongst the continually increasing and more and more complex trade directories published, a very prominent place must be given to "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." The work is in two volumes, each containing about 3000 pages, and its general character may be indicated by the statement that the publishers claim that it is the only trades directory which embraces the whole of England. Commercial travellers and the issuers of trade circulars may well be grateful for what is provided for them. The work is a marvel of enterprise, and is likely to prove exceptionally useful to a multitude of specialist producers and distributors.

Manchester Courier

It is the largest directory in the English language, and contains the names and addresses of manufacturers, merchants, traders, brokers, agents, dealers, and others connected with British trade and commerce. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Birmingham Daily Gazette

As the only trades directory which embraces the whole of England, this work will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants whose business relations extend all over the country. Hitherto they have been compelled to purchase a number of books to enable them to keep in touch with their distant customers, and the want of a comprehensive work has been strongly felt. To meet this urgent need has been the object of the compilers of these weighty volumes, which will be found invaluable in every merchant's office, saving time, space, and money.

Lloyd's Weekly Newspaper (London)

The plan of the work is to give authentic lists of persons in professions, trades, and businesses in upwards of six thousand towns and cities of England, Wales, and the Channel Islands. The checks we have been able to make show the work to be accurate, and it should prove an immense saving in trouble and money to business men.

Birmingham Daily Mail

Contains a carefully compiled list of merchants and manufacturers, as well as other information of great value to business men.

Financial News (London)

The bulk of the "London Post Office Directory" and "Burdett" is quite put in the shade by "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer." This comprehensive publication is the largest directory in the English language. It is a wonderful compilation, indispensable to every counting-house and hotel commercial room. The price must be considered very cheap.

Daily Express (London)

These two bulky volumes contain a mine of useful information, simply arranged, and covering every county and borough in the kingdom. As a guide to the retail trade of the minor towns it is especially useful.

M. A. P. (London)

I have received a copy of this practical and valuable compilation. There can be nothing but praise for the manner in which it has been brought out and the conciseness and accuracy of its references. The success of former editions has enabled the publishers to add to the comprehensiveness and general utility of the present volumes; and busy business men will find the Gazetteer, which gives an alphabetical list of villages and towns, particularly useful and convenient.

Weekly Dispatch (London)

Manufacturers and traders throughout the kingdom have long appreciated the immense usefulness of this work, and recognised its remarkable accuracy. It is a monument of extraordinary careful labour, and should find a place in the office of every business man.

Referee (London)

Manufacturers and merchants will find "Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" an exceptionally useful work of reference. Year by year it has been greatly extended, until it now comprises the whole of England and Wales. As a commercial guide it must be invaluable to all traders.

The Grocer (London)

This Directory, in two bulky volumes, claims to be the only trades directory embracing the whole of England. The publishers are, however, by no means novices in this special line of business, their "Irish" Directory being in its fifteenth year of publication, and their "Scottish" one in its twentieth. The present book represents many years of work and no small expenditure of capital, and we have little doubt will be fully appreciated by manufacturers and merchants. It presents a concise view of the business firms of England, bringing together information hitherto only accessible at great cost in many scattered volumes.

The Drapers' Record (London)

A COLOSSAL DIRECTORY.—It is a complete Trades Directory for the whole of England within the compass of two volumes, and as such is a unique production in the publishing world. The amount of work involved in such a publication must be prodigious. Manufacturers and merchants should find it a most useful directory.

Licensed Victuallers' Gazette (London)

In two large volumes, of something over 6000 pages in all, and each of the familiar size of the London Directory, here is a complete trade directory of England and Wales. The reviewer, at present staying in a small seaside place on the south coast, has personally verified its local exactness, and has not a fault to find. The work is a model of painstaking, and gives the trader the gist, in commercial matters, of all the town and county directories.

The Ironmonger (London)

The attempt to include within two volumes (portly though they undoubtedly are) the data relating to the general trades of the whole of England is a bold one, but on the whole the experiment may be considered fairly successful. Naturally the publishers do not pretend to give every village or small township in the land, but all places of a few thousand inhabitants seem to have been noticed, and for busy people with limited library accommodation it is a distinct advantage to have information of this kind in two instead of, say, twenty volumes. The type is bold and clear, and the general arrangement convenient for rapid reference.

The Insurance Record (London)

This colossal work, which may be regarded as an indispensable classic for merchants, tradesmen, manufacturers, and the large body of commercial dealers to whom it is of the utmost importance to be acquainted with "who's who," and where to find him when wanted, becomes greater in bulk and consequently of greater utility each succeeding year. The latest edition marks another step forward on the successful road the proprietors have travelled for some years past, and is a monument of what perseverance and energy can accomplish. To insurance companies' officials, as to all business men, the volumes should prove of great practical utility.

The Meat Trades Journal (London)

A WONDERFUL BOOK.—These two massive volumes represent the best attempt yet made to give in directory form a comprehensive work embracing England, Wales, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man.

Bradford Daily Telegraph

The Directory in its present form represents the work of many years, and the expenditure of a large amount of capital. The Gazetteer has been greatly extended, and will be found invaluable for commercial reference.

What Public Librarians say:—Bristol Public Library—"It is in constant request by our very numerous readers!" High Wycombe Public Library—"Has been very useful." West Bromwich Public Library—"Has been very useful in the past; and appreciated by the public." Hove (Sussex) Public Library—"Has been very well used and appreciated."

PRESS OPINIONS.

Leeds Mercury

A GREAT DIRECTORY.—“Macdonald's English Directory” is a gigantic work in two volumes, the two forming a load for an office-boy. It is a gazetteer as well. By a simple plan, reference is made easy to any part of the contents. So far as we can judge by towns we know, great care has been bestowed upon the preparation of these great volumes, which are brought as near to date as possible. For such a mass of information, the price must be regarded as very moderate.

Sheffield Independent

The two bulky volumes that comprise this publication must be a veritable godsend to merchants and manufacturers whose business relations extend all over the country. For it contains alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, traders, and shippers in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres throughout England, and, moreover, is so capitally arranged, so clearly printed, and so firmly bound as to render the task of reference to its pages easy and profitable.

Western Daily Press (Bristol)

A work consisting of two volumes, and containing about three thousand pages in each volume, may fairly be described as a marvellous enterprise. The work is clearly divided, the first volume being made up of a trades' directory of London and about three hundred suburban districts, and a separate trades' directory for each of the principal provincial cities and towns, of which over forty are dealt with; while the second volume is devoted to all other towns, with villages of importance. A handy gazetteer is given, which contributes to the completeness of an undertaking of colossal proportions.

Newcastle Chronicle

We have not had this huge volume placed upon the scales, but it is of great avoirdupois, though not beyond the lifting strength of a well-nourished office-boy. This valuable book is now being issued in two volumes, the second one alone containing some three thousand pages. It is a trade directory of the entire kingdom, and is invaluable for manufacturers and merchants who wish to see at a glance the names of the persons in any town or village engaged in any particular profession, trade, or business.

South Wales Daily News (Cardiff)

The work is divided into two stupendous volumes of over 3000 pages each, strongly bound, and admirably indexed. In order to indicate the enormous range of the information given in the directory, it may be mentioned that it includes authentic lists of the professions, trades, and businesses of upwards of 6000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, the Channel Islands, and a concise gazetteer of England and Wales, giving a great deal of useful information.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

It represents a great amount of well-directed and well-organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

The Yorkshire Post (Leeds)

Completeness and accuracy throughout such a colossal work are, of course, impossible, but the greatest care has evidently been taken to reach both, and it bears, as well as most directories of smaller scope, the test of local knowledge. It is intended especially for traders having business relations in all parts of the country, who, without it, would be obliged to burden their offices with a large number of directories.

Sheffield Daily Telegraph

The true test of any directory is to turn up your own town and other places with which you are familiar. Tried by this test, we have found Macdonald's Directory remarkably accurate. Although in several of the trades it is not so comprehensive as a local work would be, it is comprehensive enough for all practical purposes. In its particulars of rural districts in our immediate neighbourhood it is also quite reliable.

Citizen (London)

We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make an imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

Western Mail (Cardiff)

The compilation of a trades' directory for the whole of England and Wales must have involved an amount of work and organisation calculated to deter any but the most sanguine and enthusiastic of men from embarking on a task of such magnitude. Nevertheless, the work has been accomplished, and we have now before us two bulky volumes. A more useful book of reference for merchants, manufacturers, and traders of every description cannot well be imagined.

Western Daily Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular work marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

An enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged, and carefully edited trades' directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

Consists of two huge volumes, and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of upwards of 6000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 3000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of great care having been expended upon its preparation.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades' directory which embraces all England. Formerly its proportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

What Public Librarians say:—Oxford, Town Hall*—“Has proved very useful in our Reference room.” Barry (Glam.) Public Library—“Has been found of great service to the Commercial men of this town.” Hereford Public Library—“Very much used at this library.” Wrexham Public Library—“A valuable addition to the library.”

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with English Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Six Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities, in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £1, 10s.—a price much less than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades' Directory of LONDON, and about Three Hundred and Twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, as well as a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

BIRMINGHAM	CARDIFF	LEEDS	NEWCASTLE	PORTSMOUTH	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	LEICESTER	Northampton	Preston	Stockport
Bolton	Devonport	LIVERPOOL and	NORWICH	Reading	Sunderland
BRADFORD	Gateshead	Birkenhead	NOTTINGHAM	Rochdale	Swansea
BRIGHTON	Halifax	MANCHESTER and	Oldham	St Helens	Walsall
BRISTOL	Huddersfield	Salford	PLYMOUTH and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	HULL	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	SHEFFIELD	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades' Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in the Style of Firms, or change of Address, should be communicated to the Publishers.

❧ No Money will be received for the Directory until delivered. ❧

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with English Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Six Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities, in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £1, 10s.—a price much less than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades' Directory of LONDON, and about Three Hundred and Twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, as well as a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

BIRMINGHAM	CARDIFF	LEEDS	NEWCASTLE	PORTSMOUTH	South Shields
Blackburn	Derby	LEICESTER	Northampton	Preston	Stockport
Bolton	Devonport	LIVERPOOL and	NORWICH	Reading	Sunderland
BRADFORD	Gateshead	Birkenhead	NOTTINGHAM	Rochdale	Swansea
BRIGHTON	Halifax	MANCHESTER and	Oldham	St Helens	Walsall
BRISTOL	Huddersfield	Salford	PLYMOUTH and	Southampton	Wolverhampton
Burnley	HULL	Middlesbrough	Stonehouse	SHEFFIELD	York

The Second Volume gives Local Trades' Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

Any alteration in the Style of Firms, or change of Address, should be communicated to the Publishers.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive GAZETTEER Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in LIVERPOOL and GLASGOW—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Irish Tobacco Trade Journal.

Without exception the above is the most useful Directory of Ireland published. It contains exhaustive classified lists of the manufacturers, traders, merchants, agents, and dealers in upwards of five hundred Irish cities, towns, and villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer section. To merchants in the principal cities of Ireland this Directory should prove invaluable. They are often at a loss for a complete list of the traders in the different towns and villages for the purpose of circularising, etc., but the book under review supplies all these, arranged under the different trade headings. The Directory should be on the table of every up-to-date man who seeks to do any kind of business with traders in the different Irish districts as well as with Liverpool and Glasgow,—January 1906.

Carrickfergus Advertiser.

The present is the nineteenth edition of this well-known Directory, and great care has been exercised in revising the various sections and in bringing all information up to date. The Gazetteer section has been fully revised, and now gives the populations according to the 1901 census. A new Railway Map of Ireland is given, also town plans of Dublin, Belfast, and Cork. The volume is worthy of the great firm by which it is published.—26th January 1906

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Northern Whig

... The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Londonderry Sentinel.

Messrs Macdonald have long published a Scottish Directory and Gazetteer, and the present is the nineteenth annual edition of their Irish work of a similar kind. The volume has evidently been compiled with care. The Gazetteer is likely to be even more useful than the directory portion, seeing that it gives the population and other statistics of almost every village in the country. The Railway Map of Ireland is well executed.—20th January 1906.

Limerick Chronicle.

It is sometimes complained that there is not published a comprehensive directory of Limerick. That complaint may now be hushed, for we have before us a copy of "Macdonald's Irish Directory and Gazetteer," which entirely fills the bill as far as Limerick City is concerned; and if the other cities (with which we are not familiar) are as well done as Limerick, Clare, Sligo, and Tipperary (with which we are), the book should be the business man's "vade mecum." ... In a word, it is a Directory that is a Directory, and hotels and places of public resort ought to have it, while all business men will find it very useful not only as an Irish Directory, but a Directory of

Liverpool and Glasgow, a home, colonial, and foreign mercantile guide, and a comprehensive gazetteer. — 23rd December 1905

The Newry Reporter.

We have a word of special praise for "Macdonald's Irish Directory and Gazetteer," the nineteenth annual edition of which has just been published. Always a most reliable and carefully arranged compendium of its class, this edition for 1906 has now superadded a number of new sections of an important description. In the Gazetteer section the populations, according to the 1901 census, are given. The officially revised Bank Section gives the names of all the banks and bankers in Ireland, with a list of their branches, sub-offices, and agents. Taken altogether, Messrs Macdonald's Irish Directory and Gazetteer is a work of genuine usefulness, and we can heartily recommend it to all who require an aid of the kind.—23rd December 1905

The Armagh Guardian.

There are many directories on the market at present, but most of them are only so in name. That is, one can only find therein the names of those people who pay for the privilege of having those names in print, and in consequence not only many traders in each town are omitted, but entire towns do not appear at all. This is notably the case with big London "directories." "Macdonald's Irish Directory" is not one of these skeleton books. It gives the names of all business men in large towns classified according to the business, and those in small towns in alphabetical order, and is therefore a real directory. We have gone to the trouble of checking several towns, and have found it very correct indeed. A Gazetteer is also given, which, with the accompanying maps, will be found very useful.—29th December 1905.

BUTCHERS' AND MEAT SALESMEN'S DIRECTORY AND DIARY FOR GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND.

Published Annually, Price 7s. 6d.

Delivered Free.

IN respectfully calling the attention of the Trade to a new Edition of the above Work, now being prepared, the Publishers beg to tender their best thanks for the liberal patronage accorded to their former issues, and confidently rely upon the continuance of that support.

This Work is the only Directory published to the Trade. All information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified Agents, solely employed on this Publication, and thus brought up to date. It contains a list of Butchers, Pork Butchers, Meat Salesmen, Cattle Salesmen, Poulterers, and Allied Trades of the British Isles; Bye-Laws relating to Abattoirs, Seizures of Meat, &c.; Statistics of Imports of Foreign and Colonial Cattle and Dead Meat; also other useful information appertaining to the Trade. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable book of reference.

PRESS NOTICES.

Scotsman

A large and roomy blank-book, interleaved with blotting paper and supplemented by a carefully edited compendium of addresses and information useful to butchers and dealers in meat.

North British Agriculturist

It is a big-sized volume of some two or three hundred pages, and in addition to ample memoranda space for the year, contains what looks like a full list of the fleshing trade of the kingdom. Beginning with London and its suburbs, it works up through the principal towns to Scotland, and thence to Ireland. The list must have been compiled at an expenditure of much patient industry and resource, and it forms a medium of reference which we should think would be of great value and usefulness to butchers and others interested in the fleshing trade. We can confidently commend it to members of the trade.

Glasgow Herald

Besides a useful interleaved diary, the folio volume contains a directory of tradesmen in every city, town, and village in the three kingdoms, bye-laws relating to abattoirs, seizures of meat, &c., statistics of cattle and dead-meat imports, abstracts of Acts of Parliament referring to the adulteration of foods, and much besides that is likely to be helpful in the conduct of business. The volume is well got up and substantially bound.

Dundee Advertiser

All its information has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date by a staff of qualified agents. It contains a list of butchers, pork butchers, meat salesmen, cattle salesmen, poulterers, and allied trades for every city, town, and village in the United Kingdom.

Northern Whig (Belfast)

It has now reached its third edition, and will be found of great service, as, in addition to a very full directory and a useful diary, it gives bye-laws relating to abattoirs, seizures of meat, &c., statistics of imports of foreign and colonial cattle and dead meat, abstracts from Acts of Parliament relating to adulteration of foods, and a great variety of other legal and general information.

Farmers' Gazette (Dublin)

A portly and substantially-bound volume. Though this is only its third edition, the work has already made itself very popular among the members of the butchering fraternity. This directory, which consists of 200 pages, will prove very useful and reliable for reference to all engaged in the meat trade. Ireland is fully represented in it.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over TWO THOUSAND of the Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object

The Scotsman

"The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, etc. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended.

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

A new edition of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . . . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind.

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work—a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

BRITISH, COLONIAL, AND FOREIGN MERCANTILE GUIDE.

SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.

BRITISH, COLONIAL, AND FOREIGN MERCANTILE GUIDE.

This Section, added at the solicitation of many of our Subscribers, has been much appreciated, as it forms a most useful GUIDE to BUYERS, and more so in consequence of many leading and influential firms having inserted particulars of their various specialities, under the several classifications or trade headings, rendering it more serviceable than a mere list of names.

This Section is compiled without any pretensions to completeness, it being necessary to make a nominal (but necessary) charge for inserting names, to enable us to continue to issue the work at a popular price, so that its extensive circulation should not be impaired.
